

‘Sewards End Village GoogleGroup’

is an email group for people interested in the villages.

The PC has set up a GoogleGroup group in Swards End to try and find a way to send out information to residents now that the magazine isn't being produced.

From time to time, when something of general interest arises, an email will be circulated to everyone on the list. Perhaps this will be an announcement of a forthcoming event; Parish Council information; a request for help; Village Hall information, notification of road-works or perhaps news of crime in the area from the Police.

You don't need to create a Google account - just use your existing email address. If you like the idea please encourage as many residents as possible to join to complete the list.

Please email: sewards-end-village-group+subscribe@googlegroups.com to request to join. An email will then be sent to the address provided to which you should reply to confirm your join request. You'll then receive confirmation that your request has been successful.

There is also a link on the website at www.sewardsend.org.uk

All messages are reviewed by the mediator before being posted to the group. (Posted messages do reveal the email address of the author to the rest of the group.)

Any problems please email: Clerk@sewardsend.org.uk
